Document ID: DOC-012

Effective Date: January 1, 2024

Last Revised: June 1, 2024

Owner: Legal & Employee Health Operations

Applicability: All Global Employees and Contractors

1. Principle and Commitment to Safety

Quantic Global Enterprises is committed to providing a drug-free, healthy, and secure work environment. Substance abuse poses severe risks to personal safety, operational reliability, employee well-being, and enterprise security.

2. Prohibited Substances and Behaviors

The unlawful manufacture, distribution, dispensation, possession, sale, or use of illegal drugs, unauthorized controlled substances, or alcoholic beverages on company premises, at client worksites, or while operating company-owned vehicles or equipment is strictly prohibited. Employees may not report to work or perform duties while impaired by alcohol or illegal drugs.

3. Prescription Medications and Duty to Disclose

Employees legally taking prescribed medications that may induce dizziness, fatigue, or cognitive impairment must consult their healthcare provider regarding potential workplace hazards. If an employee's safety-sensitive responsibilities (such as machinery operation or physical facilities work) could be impaired, the employee must notify HR to coordinate temporary duty modifications.

4. Reasonable Suspicion and Post-Incident Testing

The company reserves the right to require drug and alcohol screening under the following circumscribed circumstances:

- Reasonable Suspicion: Documented objective behavioral, speech, or physiological indicators observed and corroborated by at least two trained supervisors.
- Post-Incident Screening: Following any workplace accident resulting in human injury or physical property damage exceeding $1,000 USD where employee impairment cannot be ruled out.

5. Employee Assistance Program (EAP) and Rehabilitation Support

The enterprise recognizes that substance dependency is a treatable medical condition. Employees who voluntarily seek assistance for drug or alcohol dependency prior to being subjected to disciplinary investigation or testing will be provided confidential support through our Employee Assistance Program (EAP) and may be granted an approved leave of absence for rehabilitation treatment.
